Tillman to Have a Clear Field.

Col. W. W. Lumpkin has withdrawn from for United States senator. This leaves the field clear for Senator Tillman's re-election. Col. Lumpkin has issued the following card: "On account of the change of conditions surrounding the senatorial race, I deem it best to withdraw from the contest. I have endeavored to conduct my campaign in a manly, straightforward way up to this time, and retire feeling that I have not intentionally wronged any one."
No cause is assigned to this move, but the hopelessness of the fight as generally conceded by the press may have brought the matter to a c!lmax.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., July 6.-There was a new face in an old picture at Columbla Park yesterday and it looked good to the 7,094 spectators who turned out to see if it would be given a permanent place in unanimous that the new face will be added to the gallery of Champions.

The new face surmounted the body of Mr. Coombs, A.B., LL.D., or some other degree which was conferred upon him by his alma mater, Colby College, Maine, who made his debut against Washington and pitched his team to a 3 to 0 victory over the Nationals. If Mr. Coombs can continue his Nationals. If Mr. Coombs can continue his work of yesterday the fans will forgive him for his degrees and fasten on him one of their own "S. B. P.," otherwise known as "star base ball pitcher."

Coombs has all the earmarks of what Manager Mack orders when he goes after a twirler, and fits the up-to-date qualification of pitchers of being six feet high. He is built somewhat on the lines of Henley, only having a few more pounds of beef than the Georgia cracker. While it must be admitted that the ex-collegian had everything mitted that the ex-collegian had everything in his favor yesterday, including a strong wind, which held back long drives, his twirling was of an impressive character.

Has Everything. The big right-hander is cool, apparently has confidence in himself, has lots of speed and his curves take such a sharp break that they are apt to bewilder the best of ANOTHER WARM batsmen. The wind yesterday operated in two ways, both for and against the new-comer to the select society of the American League. It helped him some by holding to shift the ball slightly out of the course intended. This doubtless had something to do with both twirlers giving many bases on balls during the early innings.

Coombs gave five passes in the first four innings, when three hits were also made, but two double plays helped to prevent scoring, while another double play cropped up in the fifth inning after two men had singled with one out. In the last four innings only two of the visitors reached first base, one on an error and the other on a hit. Altogether, it was a great day for Coombs, even though he was struck out three times in four attempts. This, though, doesn't appear to be Coombs' natural batting gait, for he stands up to the plate without flinching and takes a long, hard

The Athletics had all they could do to vin over the visitors, and it took not only fast fielding but also some timely hitting following some free transportation to first case, to get the three runs registered. Sey bold and Murphy, who recovered their bat-ting eyes, drove in the tallies which meant victory for the Mackies.

Peculiar Situation.

A peculiar situation arose in the third inning when the Athletics got their start toward success. The inning opened by Coombs getting a warm greeting, as befits a newcomer to Father Penn's town. The excollegian struck out. Then Hartsel and Lord were given passes and Davis fanned. Seybold had three balls called on him when Lord dashed for second.

At the instant Smith let the ball go to ward the plate, Seybold stepped out of the batsman's box. Wakefield threw the ball to Stahl, who touched Lord as he ambled back to first, Hartsel not moving off second. Washington's first baseman claimed a put out. Mr. Hurst said "No."

The crowd couldn't understand it at all. Seybold wasn't sent to his base and here vas Lord roaming along the base lines and not being given out when Stahl plainly tagged him with the ball. After some argu-ment by the Washington players, the game proceeded, but the mystery remained until after the contest was over. Then Mr. Hurst said that just before the particular delivery by Smith which caused the little argument Seybold requested a delay as he had some thing in his eye (a strike-out, maybe). Being of an accommodating nature, Mr. Hurst called a pause, but the Washington players, barring Wakefield, didn't catch the drift of Tim's remark. Naturally the spectators were in the dark as to what it was all about and the majority left the park in doubt.

Seybold was then given a base on balls, filling the sacks. Then along came Danny Murphy with a slashing single to left, which scored Hartsel and Lord. The third and final run was produced in the fifth inning on Lord's single and steal of second, Davis' long fly and Seybold's single. The score:

Both teams batted hard, and even at that the game was a pitcher's battle, both twiriers being remarkably effective with men on the bases in every inning after the first. Hampton did his best bit of work in the seventh. In that inning A. McDonald, after a pretty stop, threw wild to first, and C. Richmond singled, but Hampton screwed down the lid by fanning. P. Richmond and Kelser and Dutton ballooned to center.

On the other hand, Richmond's stellar performance was in the third. Lynham, first up, hit for two bases and falled to score. Hurdle, with the bases full of Sixth runners, pulling down Hampton's hot liner. Hampton had one the best of Richmond in strike outs, and was less generous with passes, but Mets' twirler worked harder with his stick to win his own game, dr.ving out four clean singles. Another feather in Richmond's hat was his ill-treatment of Bailenger, the leading sticker of the league. "Baily" planted a pretty single in center the first time was his Clede and him had. "Bally" planted a pretty single in center the first time up, but Clyde had him buf-faloed during the rest of the game, punch-ing him out the last two times up. Both teams were full of ginger, and the contest was a snappy, interesting one throughout.

Navy Outplayed the Champions. Navy outplayed Agriculture on the White Lot yesterday afternoon, defeating the champs 13 to 8. Thousands of fans gathered in the hope of seeing another great pitchers' battle between Curnane and Sanders, but they were sadly disappointed, as Sanders was easy for the avy lads and errors by both teams let in nearly every one of the runs. Curnane was invincible, allowing but four hits, one of them a scratch, but poor fielding let men on the bases that should have been easy outs. Although Sanders was touched up in lively fashion, the major portion of Navy's runs were due to the loose fielding of the team behind him, and this, coupled with Weber's four passed balls and a heap of daring base running, let the Sallors score almost at will. The Farmers played like tailenders all the way, but their opponents redeemed their bad fielding by clever batting and base running and an occasional bit of fast fielding.

bit of fast fielding.

Captain Harry Bryan of Navy was the bright particular star of the whole performance. In the third inning he nailed formance. In the third inning he nailed Sanders trying to stretch a two-bagger into a triple by a fine throw from deep left field. Out of five times at bat he got four good, clean hits—two of them for two bases—and besides handled his team in a masterly manner that did much toward winning the game.

Navy took a long lead in the first two thrings and they were hearted Bryan.

innings and they were never headed. Bryan led off with a double to left and Dougherty doubled to center, scoring him. Rau was passed and stole second. Coleman fouled out and Murray scored Dougherty with a tap to the infield. Sutton sent a liner to right and Rau scored on the out. In the second two hits, a pair of errors and a pass added four more. And so it was throughout the game, for both sides, until the totals reached 13 and 8.

Played Rings Around Blanks.

The Pressmen played rings around the Blanks yesterday, both at the bat and in the field, and were returned easy winners, 15 to 4. Notwithstanding the heavy batting of the winners the game was slow and uninteresting throughout, the only features worthy of mention being the stick work of Webb and Atkinson, each polling out five hits. Both sides were somewhat handicapped by the absence of several of their players, the Blanks being most affected, as neither of their regular pitchers was present and McClane and Arends, who did the twirling, were both wild and ineffective.

Webb toed the rubber for the winners and pitched a good game, but did not have to extend himself at any time as his team always had a safe lead.

The losers "ot two runs in the first. Arends singled and took second on a wild pitch. Strudley flew out to Webb. Bowman hit to Atkinson, who threw wild, Arends going to third and Bowman to second. Both counted on Kauffmann's single. One more was added in the third on Arend's single. Webb's error and Strudley's hit. Singles by Taylor and Gilhooly and an out figured in their last tally in the seventh.

A large crowd was in attendance yesterday, as is always the case when these two teams clash, as a close and exciting game is assured. Applause was a big factor in the game when the players made clever plays. The fans were not backward in showing their appreciation.

It was anybody's game until the end, first one and then the other taking the lead. St. Stephen's was disabled in the fifth, when Myers, who has been released by the National Athletic Club to St. Stephen's and who was officiating as eather. phen's, and who was officiating as catcher, had to leave the game owing to the sudden illness of his wife. "Shorty" Hughes, who, it is reported, has retired from active base ball, and who is now dito help. Several changes were made in the line-up. Heinrich, who was covering short, went behind the bat; Donovan, who was playing center, came in and played short, while Hughes went to center. Both pitchers were hit rather lively throughout the game, St. Stephen's getting ten hits to their opponents eleven and many extra bases are accounted for.

ARIONS BEAT ALEXANDRIA TWICE

On the Fourth of July the Arion Social Club went to Alexandria and played a double-header with the Old Dominions and won both games by scores of 12 to 3 and 14 to 4 before an immense crowd, numbering about 3,000 people. The games were more inter esting than the scores indicate. The features of the games were the fielding of the Arions and the individual fielding of Nevins on third base, the pitching of Rider and Fulcher, Neuman's and Fulcher's batting and the base running of Neuman and Tierney. The Arions were given a fine supper and treated very nicely by Mr. Gray, as well as the spectators. Mr. Gray, the manager of the Old Dominions, was handicap-ped by the non-appearance of several of his best players, which speaks for the large

... BASE BALL NOTES.

The Nationals play the Athletics again today in the Quaker City. Detroit will be here tomorrow, the game starting at 3:30, instead of 4:30. Kitson may hook up with Coakley or Dygert today unless Mack wants to make it a sure thing and work Plank or Bender. Bill Coughlin, George Mullin, Bill Donovan, Matty McIntyre and the other Tigers have been playing great ball, and the game tomorrow will be an interest-

Case Patten will probably work against the Detroits tomorrow, and if the great southpaw is right he wil have the lefthanded Tigers guessing all the time. Davey Altizer passed a bad night of the Fourth, the result of Young's flerce blow on the head, and it was thought best to leave him home and work Nill in his

About every club in the two big leagues have scouts in the tri-state territory, and it looks now as if the "Outlaws" are in for rough traveling the next couple weeks, especially as they are now fight-ng among themselves. Charley Jones and Charley Hickman continued their batting streak yesterday, getting four of the seven hits off Coombs hetween them. Lave Cross has now gone back in his hitting, but he can be depended upon to quickly get back into his old stride.

It is certainly wonderful the way Con-nie Mack picks up winning ball players. He gets men for nothing where other clubs are willing to pay out thousands. Perhaps the tall boy doesn't earn his sal-

Perhaps the tall boy doesn't earn his salary as manager.

Schlaffy is plainly showing the effects of his blow on the head by Glaze, as he has not been hitting since. It is to be hoped that the blow Altizer received from Young will not hurt his fine batting eye. Schmidt, catcher of the Detroit Tigers, has but one error this season, and easily heads the list of catchers in the American League in fielding.

Hugh Tate, the best hitter the local teams ran against in Texas—he was with Joe Gardner's Dallas team—is blingling the ball in great shape for Sloux City.—St. Louis Republic.

Baltimore has certainly made matters warm for Newark this season, having administered five defeats in succession to that
